

CLEVELAND AND HARRIET.
The Team That Won at the Philadelphia Primaries.

A sweeping victory was won by the Cleveland and Pattison forces at the democratic primaries here tonight, says a Philadelphia special to the New York Times today. The contest was particularly important by reason of the fact that upon the result depended the election of the delegates to the democratic national convention from Philadelphia and the control of the state convention, which will elect the eight delegates at large. Philadelphia sends eighty-five delegates to the state convention under the new apportionment, and thus will have the balance of power in that body.

The fight at last night's primaries was the most bitter and exciting for years. The Cleve-land and Pattison forces, the leaders of the Secretary of State Harrity, captured a majority of the state delegations in every one of the five congressional districts, and these delegates name the national delegates.

The Harrity led forces were in control of the city organization and are complete masters of the situation. They elected eight of the eighty-five delegates to the state convention. The great surprise of the night was the defeat of Conroy and McMeekin, the die-hards of the old banditti. The straight-out democrats in this district formed an organization to drive front control of the McAleer machine.

Both sides spent weeks in preparation for tonight's battle. Robert S. Patterson, R. J. Corcoran, and ex-Chairman Johnson were among the winners in the first district. A desperate encounter between the Metcowa and the Haggard factions in the second ward, which is also included in the first district, was the highlight. The victory was complete and was specially significant because Metcowa, who is in the McAleer combine, came out in a public declaration against Cleveland a few days ago.

The Harrity men, with ex-Secretary Krummbach, Assistant United States Attorney Read and Commissioner Sennender as leaders, had a walk-over in the second congressional district, which was fought out for the Cleve-land and Pattison forces, and the third, fourth, and fifth wards.
